Canyon's Milk Supply Makes State Record

AMONG HIGHEST IN STATE FOR CLEAN MILK

Dairymen Responsible for High Record in Canyon

FEDERAL REPORT

Canyon One of 17 Making Highest Record in Texas

"Canyon is the smallest town in Texas to make the honor roll for the current year," stated Louis Dodson, Dairy Inspector Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the Randall County Dairymen's Association.

According to Mr. Dodson Canyon is one of 17 towns to make the honor roll, out of 127 towns and cities of Texas operating under the Standard Milk Ordinance. A grade of more than 90% was necessary to make the honor roll. This record was attained and credited by the United States Public Health Service Report for the year ending June 1, 1935. The exact rating of the various cities will be made available in a short time.

Credit for this high rating is largely due to the efforts of the members of the Randall County Dairymen's Association who appreciate the value of sanitation in the production of milk. Farmers of this organization have worked for a number of years with County Agent W. H. Upchurch to improve conditions under which the milk supply of the county was produced.

The City Commission was farsighted in passing the standard milk ordinance and providing for the present system of inspection which has made possible the safeguard on the health of Canyon's citizens.

The dairymen of Randall county have worked untiringly during the past few years to maintain the highest standard of quality for their products. This has been done at a time when they were forced to operate without profit because of the drouth and feed shortage.

Contracts Will Be Let Today for Two Projects on Campus

Bids are being opened today at W. T. for two PWA projects, the addition to Cousins Hall and the erection of ten cottages. If the bids come within the money available, the contracts will be confirmed within a week by the Board of Regents and forwarded to Washington for final approval.

Two more PWA projects for the campus have been approved and the letting of contracts is expected very soon. These projects are the erection of a Home Economics cottage, and outdoor swimming pool together with improvements on the athletic field.

Work on the first PWA project, the erection of Stafford Hall, is progressing very rapidly, and Contractor J. B. Maxey expects to turn the building to President J. A. Hill before the opening of the fall session next month.

Secretary Wallace In Talk to Farmers

AAA Is Protective Tariff For Farmers Says Wallace

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace was heard Monday afternoon by a crowd that overflowed the municipal auditorium at Amarillo. His demand was for a protection for agriculture equal to that enjoyed by industry under the present tariff system.

With no pretext of oratory, or promises as to what the government will do for the farmers, Secretary Wallace confined his remarks to simple statement of facts regarding the present plight of agriculture. No political references were made during the 50 minutes that he spoke before the farmers.

The Secretary made it clear that farmers are entitled to the same benefits industry receives and that the farmers should be educated to fight for their rights of a tariff equivalent. Charging that most of the criticism directed at the AAA program came from that section which had benefited most from the tariff, Wallace said it first should be asked that tariff give the same protection to the consumer as does the processing tax.

"Second, we should say we will do away with the processing tax if you will do away with the tariff," he said.

Wallace said a statement in a previous address that tariff privileges should be taken from industry was perhaps a little too hasty.

"If instead of tearing down we could build up, it would be an important thing," the Cabinet member suggested. "But we don't want one set of rules for one industry and one for us."

Dr. M. Sloan Miller has joined Dr. H. A. Brown, the two having joint offices in the First National Bank building.

Dr. Miller will be remembered by many citizens as a student in W. T. in 1930. He went from here to Snyder where he taught in the high school and was athletic coach. He went from there to Kirksville, Mo., where he received his degree in Osteopathy and Surgery this spring. He passed the state board of examiners at the completion of his college career.

Dr. Miller served as interne in the State Hospital at Wichita Falls the past two summers, and has assisted practicing osteopaths in both Amarillo and Fort Worth during the vacation periods.

Mrs. Miller and baby arrived Sunday and the family will live at the Mrs. Davault home.

Mrs. S. A. Wilson Died Friday at the Age of 90 Years

Mrs. S. A. Wilson died Friday at Tulia in the home of Mrs. J. M. King where she has lived for the past 2 years. Mrs. Wilson was an aunt of Mrs. J. J. Walker, with whom she has made her home for the past eleven years before going to Tulia. She is familiarly known to many Canyon people as Auntie Wilson. She had celebrated her 90th birthday five days before her death.

Mrs. Wilson had been sick for only a month, although confined to her bed for the past seven years as the result of a broken hip sustained in a fall.

The funeral services were held Saturday in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Garner and daughter of Borger were here Tuesday to make arrangements for the daughter to attend W. T. this fall.

Conference Being Conducted Today on Education

A School Officials Conference will open at 9:30 a. m. in the auditorium of the Administration building Thursday. The program will be furnished by members of the State department, under the direction of State Superintendent L. A. Woods. President J. A. Hill will speak at one session on the subject "What the college can do to help school officials."

Invitations were mailed out last week from Austin to county school boards, district school boards, county superintendents, independent school superintendents, and Parent-Teachers Associations of this area.

The state is divided into fourteen areas centered around teachers colleges. This area begins with and includes Childress county to Parmer county, and all counties north.

This conference has been planned because of the need for closer co-operation between local boards of school trustees, state boards of trustees, teacher training institutions, and the State Department of Education.

Among the subjects discussed will be: classification of schools; standardization of schools; new school laws, transportation, high school tuition, state music program, and many other subjects affecting school administration.

Maintenance Fund Is Provided Goodnight Trail Hiway

The State Highway Commission has authorized $904 for maintenance of the Goodnight Trail, highway 217, from Canyon to the Palo Duro State Park.

With the completion of the contract for topping, the highway department is getting the Trail in first class condition as a state highway.

Rains Reach Every Section Of County In Week

Crop Conditions Are Better Than For 1934

Rain amounting to .65 of an inch fell in Canyon Friday and Saturday afternoons. The moisture amounted to .50 of an inch Friday and .15 Saturday.

Reports indicate that every section of the county was visited by rain during these two days.

The amount of moisture varied, running as high as two inches in some sections of the county.

The rain Friday came from the north, and was met by a dust storm which swept from the Southwest. The northern half of the county received more rain than any other section.

Saturday afternoon the rain swept in from the Southwest. The west sections and portions of the southern section of the county received heavy rains.

As the result of these two rains the creeks were up until Monday.

While the total rainfall for the year so far is less than the moisture received last year, yet farming conditions are much better than 1934. The wheat this year showed an increase over last year.

Row crops have a much better prospect this year than for 1934. It will be remembered that while 1934 brought continuous high, dry winds throughout the summer, the temperature has been very moderate this summer with the exception of a few days. This time last year the prairies were brown as a result of the drouth, while there is fair grass in most sections of the county at the present time.

The weather department promises more rain, which will be of great benefit to the row crops.

Mrs. F. M. Faulkner was seriously hurt Sunday when she fell on the side walk, breaking her arm and receiving other injuries. She was confined to the hospital for several days, but is at home now.

Prohibition To Be Discussed in Series Meetings

The prohibition campaign in Randall county will open this week with a series of meetings, according to announcement made by W. A. Warren, county chairman of the prohibition forces.

The first meeting in the county will be held at the Park school house Friday night at 8:30 o'clock.

The second meeting will be held at the Zita school house on Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock.

All churches in Canyon will join in a union service at the Baptist church Sunday night when an out of town speaker will address the church members in the first meeting to be held in Canyon. Mr. Warren is joined by the pastors of the city in urging that all citizens avail themselves of this opportunity in the gathering of prohibition forces.

A meeting will be held at the Jowell school house on the night of August 17.

Mr. Warren states that other meetings will be arranged before Aug. 24th at the school houses of the county if the various communities wish for speakers to visit these schools. Every community will be visited if there is interest on the part of the citizens to hold a rally.

On the night of August 20th, a county wide rally will be held on the court house lawn at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. H. D. Tucker of Pampa has been secured to make the talk at that time.

Hunting Guns Must Be Plugged to Three Shells Says Warden

Hunters of migratory birds are warned by District Game Warden P. H. Hopson that guns must be plugged to three shells or the hunter is liable to a fine.

Mr. Hopson was here Thursday and is issuing this warning before the season opens in order to protect hunters from prosecution.

It is stated that ducks will be extinct within a few years unless protected by such measures.

Plugs for guns may be secured at hardware stores.

High Creek Makes Cut Crowd Sunday at Palo Duro Park

Attendance at the Palo Duro State Park was reduced last week by the showers of the week end. This was especially true for Sunday when the Palo Duro creek was up so high that cars could not go beyond Crossing No. 1. The total for the week was 389. Only 218 cars came on Sunday.

Amarillo attendance was reduced to 90 cars for the week. Other towns contributing to the attendance were: Canyon 22; Pampa 16; Dallas 13; Plainview, Tulia 11 each; Lubbock 10; Fort Worth 9; Claude 7; Borger, Hereford, San Antonio 5 each; Wichita Falls, Slaton, 4 each; 69 other towns contributed attendance from Texas.

WILD LIFE TO BE PRESERVED IN PALO DURO

Ranchmen Asked to Put Land in Preserve for Game

STOCK IN PARK

Federal Man Is Making Survey of Game in Park

Every land owner surrounding the Palo Duro Park is asked to place his land under the protection of a game preserve in order that wild life may be greatly increased in the Palo Duro. A large number of ranches adjoining the Park are posted against hunters, but it is desirable that a block of 100,000 acres or more in Randall and Armstrong counties be made for this preserve.

Paul Russell representing the National Park Service has been in the Palo Duro Park for three weeks making a complete study of Wild Life, and the possibilities of increasing game in the Park and the game preserve. It will likely take two or three weeks longer for Mr. Russell to complete his study of the Park.

The herd of deer in the Park is sufficiently large to increase very rapidly if properly protected, states Mr. Russell. He has found two kinds of quail in the Park and believes that these will increase so as to sufficiently stock the Park.

Mr. Russell is here for the purpose of a complete survey of the possibilities of the Park, and his recommendations will be made to Washington upon completion of the survey.

Suggestions are being made that antelope and possibly buffalo be placed in the Park. Also that fox squirrels be added, and possibly wild turkey. All of these are being considered.

"There is a sufficient start on the types of wild life which we have if they are properly protected," stated Mr. Russell. Evidences of shooting are found in a number of places where empty shells were picked up. Guns are strictly prohibited upon the Park property, and police protection will be improved so as to prohibit the slaughter of game within this territory.

Ranchmen who will join in extending the game preserve are requested to get in touch with Mr. Russell at the Park, or see Clyde Warwick, chairman of the Palo Duro Park board.

Mrs. Hal Peck, member of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Department and Deputy Game Warden P. H. Hopson, are being requested to assist in increasing the game preserve and the protection of the game.

Randall Women Return Monday From A. and M.

Twelve Randall County Demonstration club women and two 4-H club girls returned from College Station Monday where they attended the annual Short Course last week.

The central theme of all programs and demonstrations given at A. & M. was "Changing Country Life," by making more profitable use of the raw materials obtainable. Special courses were given in making soil and potted plants; making purses and moccasins; mattress making; home industries; natural dyes and how to use them; in addition to many other lectures.

More than 7,000 people attended the course with 1500 women delegates with voting power enrolled. District One had 142 delegates with five council representatives attending, with one of these being from this county.

EXPRESSING APPRECIATION

The edition of The News last week has been highly praised by several hundred people who have met the publisher during the last week. It makes me very happy to receive these words of commendation, and makes me wonder whether or not much of this praise has not been misplaced.

Perhaps many wonder at the space which was used by different citizens in expressing kind words to me. This idea was on the part of the force who worked out the plan without my knowledge or consent. Had I known this was coming up, I would have spent more time in the review of Canyon's history which I hastily wrote for the edition.

Many, many thanks for the kind words, and may I live sufficiently long to merit them. Twenty-five years is an awful short time, after all, as one reviews the progress of the past.

CLYDE W. WARWICK.

You have heard that too many cooks spoil the broth. We hope this will not prove true of the Texas Centennial, which is top heavy with committees having interlocking authority until friction has started in nearly every phase. Trouble started when the legislature failed to appropriate the necessary money and make a definite set up for the Centennial before the location of the celebration was made. An early appropriation would have eliminated much of the jealousy which has arisen and caused the creation of additional boards to watch other boards already in existence. The press of the state is highly incensed that no newspaper men were included on the advertising committee, since it was members of the press who conceived the Centennial idea and put up the fight to make the celebration possible. We hope that all of this fuss will not injure the celebration next year. Personally, while we feel that mistakes have been made, we shall not be a party to any movement that would injure the Centennial. The 100 years' history of Texas is too great to allow petty grievances to interfere with its celebration in a ful and whole hearted manner. The celebration is intended to be above the scope of commercialism, although the money phase of any great undertaking must be adequately considered. Possibly those towns in which celebrations are held may make considerable money from the enterprise, but in every instance they are putting up a lot more money than is in prospect for return on the show. We favor aiding the Centennial rather than trying to hamper it.

Those seeking repeal in Texas are whipped so far as the August 24th election is concerned, if reports are true. Unfortunately, prohibition is not prohibiting, since open the saloon exists in every large city of the state, with no effort being made to close them. But creating more liquor will not solve the problem. Drug store liquor is the worst evil in the state right now, according to those who are thoroughly familiar with the situation. The bootleggers are not beginning to sell the amount of liquor which is being dispensed by drug stores that are willing to cater to the liquor interests. As a result, millions of dollars in taxes are getting away from the state. But the prohibition element does not wish the state to legalize the liquor evil, thus becoming a party to the liquor cause. The distillers are refusing to put up any fight to defeat constitutional prohibition in Texas, believing that they would not increase their sales over present conditions; the beer brewers are opposed to repeal, since they now enjoy a freer run of business than they would if hard liquor were sold. The wets have been unable to create the least excitement for their cause, while the drys are getting active to retain state wide prohibition.

The Grand Jury is in session this week. Folks often condemn the courts and the elected officers because the laws of the state are not enforced. Iittle do they realize that every citizen of the county has as serious an obligation in law enforcement as do the officers and the courts. In the first place, it is the duty of every citizen to report every case of law infraction of which they know or have reliable information; second, they should give the officers all information instead of attempting to shield those who have violated the laws; third, they should accept jury service and diligently perform the duties as a member of the jury in seeing that justice is rendered—not persecution of the unfortunate criminal, but justice for every one accused of crime; fourth, in those cases which are found guilty through proper court channels, the citizen has a duty to perform in not asking for clemency before the criminal has paid his obligation to society. The rights of society are trampled upon in this nation because men who claim to be good citizens refused to do the part of good citizens in assisting to protect society.

Tom Waggoner of the Claude News takes another column of his valuable space to lecture the Canyon News and the Tahoka News on the money question. So far as we are concerned, we admitted years ago that we knew nothing about the money question, excepting in the light of history, which we would rather trust than rely upon Tom's theories. We read recently there are possibly three men in America who know the money question—and Tom was not listed. Every nation which has tried it has found that printing up an excess of paper money makes it of no more value than wall paper—and we have confidence that the President is not so misguided as to try it, regardless of the advice of Tom Waggoner and other extreme inflationists.

President Roosevelt's statement that 58 wealthy persons in America are not paying proper income taxes is being translated as a criticism of the wealthy for being fortunate or diligent enough to have accumulated their money. We prefer to believe that the President criticised the fact that these people invested a major portion of their earnings in tax exempted bonds. The government has permitted such a thing in the past, but the mistakes of the past should be avoided by prohibiting such practices in the future. As a result of such bonds, wealthy people are able to completely avoid taxes, but at the same time enjoying all of the benefits and protection of the government.

Whispering campaigns are the more damnable that may be started against any public man. It is revealed that a so-called advertising man attempted to whisper that President Roosevelt is insane. Of course human nature has it that every man is crazy who does not agree with you. Whispering campaigns have been started against every president in recent years. Wilson felt it. Harding, Coolidge and Hoover did not escape. Words fail to express our honest opinion of men who attempt to undermine the reputation of our public officials in such a manner. Public servants are continually under the fire of the most unscrupulous men of the nation.

Secretary Wallace made a decided hit with the farmers of the Panhandle Monday. Those who went to the meeting expecting an easy flow of eloquence, and vague promises of what the government would do for them were bound to be disappointed. Instead of these promises, Mr. Wallace told in simple language what the government was trying to do for the farmers, and what the farmers must do in the future to protect their own interests. It is said that Secretary Wallace is very close to the President because of his understanding and appreciation of the farm problem.

The News will print a review of the seven constitutional amendments again next week. While it is bad policy to say that we are "agin" constitutional amendments without particular reason, the more we study the seven amendments to be voted upon August 24th, the more we are inclined to vote against the entire group. There is no particular reason for supporting any of the amendments, excepting the old age pension; but the legislature presented such a badly framed amendment in this instance, that we believe it should be instructed by the voters to make this one more specific before being adopted by the people.

The reduction in the Texas tax rate for this year does not mean so much after all ,considering the fact that the general fund grows deeper and deeper in the red. Something is going to have to be done with the general fund of Texas, as the deficit grows larger. The people are demanding more and more services from the state, and therefore must pay more for these services. There is no way to reduce state appropriations unless state services are reduced. Everyone is anxious for the state to assume more duties toward the citizens, but at the same time raise a terrible roar when called upon to pay the bill.

Half cent and mill coins are expected upon the scene most any time. The lowly penny will ascend to a throne of great importance with these two minor coins in existence.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

Home-cooking has a varied appeal to the hundreds of patrons of this company. The preparation of food holds an important place in the routine of the home. The great fireplace in which our Colonial forefathers did their cooking was extremely wasteful both of food and of the fuel itself. Most of us remember the big black iron "wood stove" with its inevitable wood box or coal scuttle. This was a big step ahead of the open fire but still a long way from anything like efficiency.

In the beginning of the present century came the early gas range — a tremendous advance over the wood stove but still not the perfect cooking appliance. However, it started people thinking that perhaps the kitchen could be a really clean, pleasant room, after all! Then came the era of electricity—the greatest period of home-making development this country has ever known. And it brought the greatest advancements in cooking methods—cooking without fire!

The Waldorf electric range is now available to those who are interested in practical cooking. Whether you bake, roast, broil, or cook on the surface elements your experience will be one of lasting pleasure to you. The price of $74.50 to $99.50 installed without extra charge possesses a wonderful appeal to those who make home-cooking different to home-work. The purchase terms can be made to fit your specific needs. It will be a matter of genuine pleasure to us to show you the range and point out the clean, cool, economical advantages of electric cooking.

WESTER-CROWDER MARRIAGE THURSDAY

Miss Louise Wester and Ray F. Crowder were united in marriage in a simple but beautiful ceremony at the home of Mrs. M. C. DeGraffenried, Thursday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

The Rev. Herman Coe of the First Baptist Church at White Deer read the impressive nuptial rites before an altar of ferns, pink sweet peas, and blue plumbago. Large baskets of rose-pink asters and lilies stood at the base of the arch with smaller baskets and vases of shasta daisies and silver lace vine.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. C. O. Huber of Pampa sang "At Dawning." Lohengrin's wedding march announced the approach of the bridal party. During the ceremony the soft strains of "Love's Old Swet Song," were played by Mrs. U. S. Nicks. Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as the recessional.

The bride was attractive in a white fall crepe dress. She carried an arm bouquet of auratum lilies and lilies of the valley held with lily of the valley ribbon.

The matron of honor and best man, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Armstrong led the way to the altar. Her dress was a black and white tunic effect embroidered in gold. At the waist she wore a corsage of premiere supreme roses, valarianna and baby's breath.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held. The bride was assisted by Miss Jessie DeGraffenried in cutting the beautifully decorated, three-tiered wedding cake which was adorned by a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Vearl Iverson assisted the bride's mother in presiding over the attractively appointed tea table. Mrs. Wester wore a white crepe dress with a shoulder bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

Mrs. Crowder received her education in the Canyon High School and West Texas State Teachers College.

Mr. Crowder, who received his degree in '34 from W. T. S. T. C., is teaching mathematics and history in the White Deer High School. He was assistant band director of that city last year. While in college Mr. Crowder took an active part in band and dramatics and was a member of the Antler Literary society.

Only relatives and a few immediate friends attended the wedding. The young couple will be at home to their friends at White Deer after Sept. 1.

WILMA JONES AND JOE HILL TO WED

In the center a realistic appearing mound of sparkling snow supported a diminutive South Pole on which an emperor penguin perched. From the top of the pole white ribbons descended to the guest plates bearing tiny scrolls in which an imagined scene from Little America furnished a background for the announcement.

Besides many Hereford friends and members of the family, the guest list included Mrs. J. A. Hill and Misses Marion Hill, Martha Nell Lang and Marguerite Rose, all of Canyon.

SIDELIGHTS

By MARVIN JONES

The A. A. A. amendments as they passed the House of Representatives made provision for carrying on the agricultural adjustment program and for protecting the government against unnecessary suits.

These amendments passed the House more than a month ago.

The Senate has adopted a number of changes and amendments, some of which should not be permitted to remain in the measure.

The Senate amendment permitting suits by processors to recover taxes paid, in the event processing taxes are held invalid by the Supreme Court, is too broad.

The processor has simply been the agent for the collection of these taxes, which have been written into the general price structure of the country.

If such suits are permitted, and recovery is had, the money should be placed in the custody of the Court as a trust fund.

The processor, at the most, should be allowed to recover no more tax than the tax which he has paid on stocks which he has on hand and unsold at the time the suit was instituted.

The wholesaler should be allowed to recover taxes paid on any stocks which he has on hand and unsold at such time.

The retailer and distributor should certainly be accorded the same privilege.

In fairness, the balance should go to the consumer who is the ultimate purchaser, but he probably could not be located.

No just man would deprive a citizen of his right to recover any taxes improperly paid by him. On the other hand, no reasonable man should ask to recover taxes which he has passed on.

It would be manifestly unfair to permit the processor to recover taxes on goods which he has already sold. At any rate, the processor should be requested to show conclusively that he neither took any part of it off the price paid to the farmer and that he did not pass any part of it on to the consumer.

We know that the processing tax was a definite factor in the price of all goods sold after such tax became effective. It remains a very definite factor in cost at this time, notwithstanding the fact that many manufacturers are withholding the tax in the hope that the Supreme Court may eventually declare it invalid.

It would create chaos to invite tens of thousands of suits to recover hundreds of millions of dollars when the processor was merely the agency through which these taxes were passed on to the general public. The government cannot allow this to become a racket by the processor for recovery of taxes which were really paid by the ultimate consumer.

Either the amendment should be eliminated entirely or modified so as to avoid the abuses which it invites.

The bill will now go to a joint conference group representing the House and the Senate, whose duty it will be to iron out the differences between the bill as it passes the House and as it passed the Senate.

I am very hopeful that we will be able to reach a proper agreement, as it is all-important that the farm program be continued.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Humphreys and three children of Fort Worth are visiting in the parental John S. Humphreys home. They plan to be here about two weeks.

What Rotary May Do For Canyon Is Discussed Tuesday

"What the Rotary Club may do to meet the community needs," was the subject directed Tuesday at the luncheon, with Wes Kleinschmidt in charge of the program.

Joe Hill made the key note talk, urging a spirit of optimism and faith in the future on the part of the community. Using a common expression, Mr. Hill compared conditions in Canyon to a person suffering from a bad case of constipation; with a headache, bad breath, lack of pep and confidence, and fussing at each other.

Mr. Hill stated that Canyon had more reason for optimism than any small community in the state he had visited. There are many natural resources, including the supply of pure water, perfect drainage; largest per capita paving in the state, sidewalks, the Palo Duro Park, paved highways, the Museum. Too few citizens are appreciative of these advantages, and are not talking them up as they should. Mr. Hill urged that the citizens take an attitude of optimism; talk up the advantages which we have; come to life; quit criticising each other; look to the future full of faith.

Mr. Hill hoped to see Canyon double in population in five years. This would double the attendance in W. T. and greatly improve the college.

Tom Knighton added that there was the best fishing in the Panhandle in Randall county. That he was very optimistic toward the future.

Doug Shirley reviewed three articles in the June, July and August numbers of the Rotarian showing what Rotary clubs had done in other towns to correct conditions. The prize article came from Slaton where the Rotary Club took charge of a bad situation in bringing the people together.

Visitors present Tuesday were: Irving Tolzien, L. J. Pickering, H. T. Neely, W. W. Rusk, R. E. Wertz, Ben Anderson, Judge E. C. Nelson, W. J. Flesher, Grady Hazlewood, all of Amarillo; Arthur Cocanougher of Lubbock; Dr. M. Sloan Miller of Canyon.

Athalee Overton has returned home from McLean where she has been spending her vacation.

Seed Loan Time Extended Until End of August

OLD AGE PENSION AND TAXATION

If, as generally believed, the Texas old age pension amendment is voted, it will be meaningless until and unless the legislature finds an additional tax source. At the moment, taxes even for relief and to wipe out the deficit are not in sight.

The pension, made applicable to the poor and rich alike who have attained the age of 65 years, could amount to as much as $15 per month. This would entail an anual expense of about $40,000,000. This total approximates a 50 per cent increase in taxes. With proerty owners rightly campaigning for a reduction in their load of the modern tax structure, one can see only one possible substantial new tax source likely to be voted—the sales tax.

It is argued, with some truth, that the sales tax is a tax on poverty. It is that, and on the wealthy and the middle employed class as well. But it is no more a tax on poverty than are the processing taxes which are rehabilitating the farmers. Who suffers most when a tax is placed on wheat or bacon—the rich man or the poor one? The answer is obvious.

Taxation was simple when governmental functions were few. To pay taxes was to pay for the protection of property. Today, a big part of taxes goes to various forms of relief. Th ecost of government has become so huge and has so many ramifications that almost everyone benefits as well as pays. Indeed, no person living in this country, unless disabled, can well escape the responsibility for helping to support the government which helps him.

Suppose a couple 65 years of age is nearly penniless and in want. Without a sales tax, or some similar tax, the State may not be able to help them to the extent of more than $5 a month, if any at all. But with a 2 per cent sales tax, suppose the couple could be paid $15 each, or $30 a month. The sales tax on their purchases could be little more than 60 cents a month under any of the state plans now in use. Here, then, is a sales tax "on poverty" which would be very acceptable to the aged. True, indigents not yet 65 would not be so fortunately situated, but 60 cents per month for them is not too much to contribute to the support of the aged.

We state this argument academically, and without endorsing the sales tax. We doubt that a 2 per cent tax would be adequate, especially without reducing the list of aged beneficiaries to those who need the pension. Sales taxes are undesirable on a number of grounds. Yet with many states adopting them with much apparent success, it is obvious that many of the objections heard are mere guesses or prejudices.

If governments—state and national—are to embark on permanent social security programs, the sales tax plan of support seems inevitable. And if all the people benefit, it is not illogical that all should contribute in some degree to the public treasuries. No division of liqid wealth, through legal or illegal means, can be sufficient. Those who demand more and more services must be held in check lest tax-eaters wreck the government. This is not an idle and unreasonable statement. It has come to the point where two persons are trying to get on the public to help one really needy citizen. And too many of these tax-eaters are paying little or no taxes.—Pampa News.

Who Pays For Advertising?

Does the advertiser pay? No.

Does the buyer pay? No.

Well, then, who does pay?

Answer: The advertiser's non-advertising competitors pay the bills.

This group is divided into four types.

The first type is he who says: "I don't believe in newspaper advertising." He pays, and he pays dearly because daily would-be buyers pass his place on their way to his competitor's store to purchase advertised goods and services; his telephone orders are fewer than possible, and his mail orders fail to meet his expectations.

Yes, he helps pay for his competitor's advertising, and he pays dearly, and during his idle business hours, he wonders why business is dull.

The second type is he who says, "I believe in advertising, but I can't afford it." He holds a dime so close to his eye that he can't see the dollar farther away. He loves money and he wants to make more money, but he lacks vision. Yes, he, too, pays his share of his competitor's advertising through loss of customers.

The third type is he who says, "If I advertise, I must raise the prices." This type fails to see that it is better to sell a large volume of merchandise at a fair profit than it is to sell a smaller amount at a larger profit. He overlooks the fact that advertising will attract to his place new customers, many of whom will become regular customers, and he makes another mistake of overlooking the fact that only through volume selling can a merchant do volume buying, which means purchasing at greatly reduced prices, enabling him to reduce the prices of advertised goods instead of increasing the prices.

The fourth type is he who thinks that he can select a better medium than that of his leading newspaper. This type makes an error of judgement, perhaps because he is not fully informed. He doesn't know that through no other method can a seller reach so many buyers at so small a per person cost, as every day eager eyes are looking for advertised bargains in the leading newspaper.

The buyers of advertised goods do not pay the advertising bills. Why not? Because advertised goods are actually sold cheaper than non-advertised goods.

How do we know that neither the advertiser nor the buyer of advertised goods, pay for the advertising? The answer is the enviable record of the nation's most prominent business houses, those firms that have been in business year after year, many of whom advertise daily, attracting to their places the consuming public who has learned through experience that advertised goods are not only better than non-advertised merchandise, but actually cheaper, fresher and more satisfactory in every way.

Arthur W. Evans Will Speak Here

Welsh Humorist Will Be Lyceum Speaker on Aug. 13 and 14

Arthur Walwyn Evans, Welsh wit and humorist, will speak here Aug. 13 and 14. It is presumed he will meet group conferences as Dr. No-Yong Park would have done.

Dr. Evans offers three lectures: "The Mill and the Millions," "The Language of Liberty," and "The Lords of the Land."

That Dr. Evans is a man of rare platform gifts may be judged by the fact that he succeeded Dr. Edward A. Steiner, lyceum star, who is a friend of Tolstoi, and author of "The Trail of the Immigrant." Dr. Evans has held the same charge for five years.

For three successive seasons Dr. Evans has lectured at the largest Chautauqua assembly in Ohio. He is now pastor of one of the largest Congregational Churches in Ohio. His lyceum season has been such a success, however, that he has been induced to give up his church in the near future, and devote his time exclusively to lecturing and to literary pursuits.

His lectures will be at night. Admission will be by blanket tax.

Far From Being 'Land of Living Death,' U. S. Leper Colony Is Pleasant Resort

TO the average mind, the term "leper colony" suggests a bleak, grim island—a cemetery of the living—on which disease-ravaged human beings sadly await the end.

Actually, in the United States at least, the picture is quite the opposite. In Uncle Sam's only leper colony, at Carville, La., victims of the dread disease listen to radios, play golf and tennis, attend movies; in fact, enjoy every advantage of a southern resort.

In more ways than one the Louisiana institution has brought a "new deal" to such unfortunates as, in Biblical days, were herded into the vale of lepers, a loathsome, beast-infested spot where bread was thrown to them by the "clean," and where the very air was believed polluted.

At Carville are some 350 of the nation's thousand-odd lepers. Ranging in age from 5 to 70, the patients comprise former artists and boilermakers, stenographers and concert pianists, farmers and attorneys, judges and factory girls; some poor, others wealthy—for leprosy is no respecter of persons.

The afflicted ones live in attractive cottages, each housing from 10 to 12, and surrounded by green, sunny lawns. Flowers grow in profusion over the porches. There are tennis courts and golf links; a recreation hall and gymnasium; a movie, and chapels for all denominations. To keep them from thinking about themselves, the active patients are given light chores about the hospital or on their farm and orchards nearby.

FOR centuries, lepers stoically have endured a living death. But the people at Carville resolutely refuse even to consider such a fate. They have seen scores of afflicted companions, after treatment with chaulmoogra oil, discharged as completely cured. In the 10 years from 1920 to 1930, for instance, 65 patients were released from the National Leper Home. Even one cure, remember, was considered a near-miracle as recently as 50 years ago.

To many of Carville's lepers, therefore, it is simply a question of time until the traditional stigma is lifted from them, and they are again free to enter "the world of other people."

Since 1921, the year in which the U. S. Public Health Service took over the Louisiana colony, Uncle Sam has been bending every effort toward curing and restoring to society his leprous wards. Just recently, to aid in this campaign, a $343,000 hospital, complete with operating and physiotherapy rooms, X-ray and general laboratories, was completed with PWA funds.

With this new, ultra-modern equipment, officials expect to accomplish more of the marvelous cures for which Carville has become noted, achievements that have attracted leprologists from all over the world.

Rodeo Postponed to Saturday This Week

Proceeds to Go to Completion of Buffalo Courts

W. T.'s rodeo was postponed from Saturday, Aug. 3, to Saturday, Aug. 10, because of the rain last week. The field was too muddy to furnish footing for the animals, announced Coach Bob Cox, who also explained that using the field while muddy would have ruined it as a gridiron.

Mr. Cox and Red Myrick state several events and special features will be added to the rodeo Saturday that were not originally planned.

The rodeo is being sponsored by the Canyon Athletic Club, and proceeds will go to help complete Buffalo Courts. Admission will be 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. There will be two shows as was planned for last Saturday, one at 2:30 o'clock and one beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Some of the outstanding features to be on the program are wild steer riding; bronc riding; a program by Red, the educated horse, wild cow milking contest. A special feature of the program will be the steer riding by members of the W. T. athletic department. A kid's calf-roping contest will also be held.

Persons interested in entering any of the contests are asked to see Red Myrick.

CENTENNIAL TO BE OBSERVED AT COLLEGE

Hill and Members of Committee Work on Plan

ALLRED TO COME

Twenty-four Programs To Be Given During Winter Session

Pres. J. A. Hill has had for some time a committee working on program plans for the Centennial Celebration in 1936. Prof. L. F. Sheffy is chairman of the committee. The other members are Dr. Ford Fronabarger, Dean R. P. Jarrett, Miss Mary E. Hudspeth, Miss Miltia Hill, and Travis Shaw.

Tentative plans provide for twenty-four programs to be given at the College next year, beginning with the regular session.

Gov. Allred To Be Here

The initial program, it is hoped, may be given with Gov. James V. Allred present. It is possible that a representative from the Centennial Commission will give the second program.

Scattered throughout the year there will be lectures by those who have achieved success in the field of music, art, literature, politics, business, and religion in Texas.

Varied Programs Planned

Programs will be given by the Demonstration School, speech department, orchestra, band, high school bands of the Panhandle, student organizations, service clubs such as the Rotary, Kiwanis, or Lions, physical education department, Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, and by the Spanish department.

A play written in Spanish concerning some phase of Texas History and presented as a pageant, will be a special entertainment from the Spanish department.

To Use Texas Motif

All college publications will seek to carry out some Centennial motif in form. Suggestions have been made that the cattle brands on the entrance of Pioneer Hall be used as yearbook illustrations. The old T-Anchor Ranch building, as it is the most characteristically Western building near the College, may be used as a letter head for the Prairie. It is possible that the College stationery will carry some emblem.

Plans are being made for representation in Centennial buildings at Dallas.

BY PHILIP MARTIN

CLEVELAND becomes the mecca of simon-pure golfers during the week beginning Sept. 9 when the faithful will trek 200 strong to its beautiful Country Club course, to try and pry Lawson Little loose from his National Amateur crown.

This is the largest entry list of qualifiers ever authorized by the United States Golf Association since its inception in 1895. Aug 20 is the date set for the qualifying rounds at many golf clubs throughout the country to decide who among the stroking clan shall have the right to compete in this all-important tournament.

It is an uncommon feat for an amateur champ to defend his title successfully the year following its acquisition, although it has been accomplished before; but any golfer who can cop the British Amateur Championship twice in succession, as did Little in 1934 and this year, is a power to be reckoned with. Deadly putting and strong iron shots characterize Little's play.

There will be no attempt to transform the course into an unbroken series of hazards to frustrate the contestants as was the case at Oakmont, Pittsburgh earlier in the year. Its length has been increased, however, to about 6800 yards.

The event should attract an excellent attendance, since Cleveland hasn't entertained the National Amateur since 1907.

BASEBALL oblivion beckoned Wes Ferrell at the time of his trade to the Boston Red Sox by the Cleveland Indians, following his declaration of war on the Redskin management.

His main stock in trade, a sizzling smoke ball, had slowed down considerably, while his batting, unusually productive for a twirler, seemed to be drained dry of base hits. But a highly developed competitive instinct lurks in the Ferrell bosom, and this, in our opinion, saved him from going the way of all baseball flesh.

Unwilling to admit defeat, Wes began to draw from his well of experience and pitch to batters' weaknesses instead of trying to throw the pellet past them. He also developed uncanny control and a baffling slow ball, and the latest records will show he's been more than a little [illegible]

In addition, his rejuvenated bat has boomed out many bingles which meant games entered on the credit side of the ledger for the Crimson Hose.

STOP FIRE HAZARD!
with the Coleman Automatic ELECTRIC IRON

NO one can afford the danger and expense of the old fashioned electric iron that will get red hot if the current is left on and forgotten. It means fire... damage, destruction!

You are always safe with a Coleman Automatic Iron. You can set it "high"... leave it "on" indefinitely, flat on the ironing board. Yet because of its dependable thermostat, it will never reach a temperature high enough to start a fire. It will never overheat!

In addition to safety, a Coleman will *save you $2 to $5 a year on electric current; save one-fifth of your ironing time, and guard against scorching your clothes. It does more than the ironing. Seeing is believing. Come in for a demonstration.

*Based on domestic rates ranging from 4c up per kilowatt.
